Weft: A design-build workshop

Weft is an earth-construction, design-build workshop in the village of Abetenim, Ghana. Our workshop will take place June 3 - August 31, 2017. We are designing and building a community and arts center with the local community. The project will be realized by a team of locals and international volunteers, collaborating together to define and experiment with the idea of community architecture. We are currently looking for sponsors.

Our team must raise the funds necessary to purchase building materials and to compensate local builders and craftsmen for their time and energy. Please consider helping the team meet our budget goals. By supporting this project, you are helping to provide volunteers and locals the opportunity to be a part of a successful, invaluable experience learning and engaging with new cultures. You will also be providing a community with a new space for communal arts and events.

If interested in sponsorship, we would like to thank you by representing your business or organization on the back of our team shirts. These shirts will be distributed to all team members as well as individual donors who donate at our crowdfunding platform. Additionally, your information will be displayed on our website and in printed material and documentation.
